Highlights of Recent Scientific Liver Meetings:
Impact on Clinical Practice

November 19, 2016
7:30 am–1:30 pm
Northwestern Memorial Hospital
251 E. Huron St.
Third Floor, Pritzker Auditorium
Chicago, Illinois 60611
Sponsored by Northwestern Medicine
New information on the diagnosis and management of patients with liver disease is being gathered at an accelerating rate. It is difficult for the busy practitioner to separate the novel but unproven idea from information that has a direct impact on daily practice. The hepatitis C epidemic is an example of such conflicting demands, with the physician called to address the immediate needs of patient care while extensive new information is being constantly generated.

This educational program is focused toward healthcare professionals involved in the care of patients with liver disease. In a five-hour session, important information presented at the recent meeting of the American Association for the Study of Liver Diseases will be reviewed. Ten areas of clinical hepatology will be covered and potential changes in patient management will be discussed. Our guest speaker, Norah Terrault, MD, MPH, Professor of Medicine and Director of Viral Hepatitis and Liver Transplantation at University of California San Francisco, will join the informal and interactive discussion.

Course director

Alfred L. Baker, MD

Program objectives

After attending this educational activity, participants should be able to:

1. Explain the newest data for the diagnosis and treatment of major liver disorders.

2. Describe approved therapy for Hepatitis C, Hepatitis B, and other common liver disorders.

3. Review guidelines for patients with complex liver disorders, such as Hepatitis C, and for those requiring liver transplantation.
