Your Northwestern Medicine care team

We are dedicated to listening and responding to patient concerns, promoting well-being and treating each patient with respect and compassion.

Your team at each cancer center may include:

Medical oncologists

These physicians monitor advances in care, expand clinical trials and lead your care.

Advanced practice providers

They work with physicians and your care team. They can answer questions and provide care.

Radiation oncologists

These physicians plan the course of therapy and conduct check-ups to ensure your treatment is on track.

Oncology nurse clinicians

They will assess your symptoms and communicate with physicians. They will educate you and your loved ones on your health issues and care, and help coordinate your care.

Surgical oncologists

These physicians specialize in your particular type of surgery.

Social workers

They can:

- › Help you navigate resources for transportation, lodging, work, home care and more.
- › Offer resources to help you and your loved ones cope, including ways to manage and overcome depression, anxiety and cancer-related stress.
- › Teach you how to advocate for yourself as a patient so you better understand your diagnosis and care plan.
- › Share ways to talk with children, loved ones, friends or co-workers about a cancer diagnosis and treatment.
- › Help you plan for end-of-life through advanced care planning, if needed. They can help you complete:
  - Power of Attorney for Health Care forms
  - Five Wishes
  - Practitioner Order for Life Sustaining Treatment (POLST)
- › Help you understand any Social Security benefits, disability benefits and insurance coverage.

Dietitians

Good nutrition is important before, during and after cancer treatment. Some side effects of cancer treatment can affect your eating habits.

The dietitians can:

- › Work with you to make a nutrition plan to help you manage any side effects of your treatment.
- › Teach you what foods to eat to help your body during treatment.

New patient liaisons

They will help schedule your visits and set up your care. They will check your insurance and help you understand your health plan information.

Breast cancer and surgery nurse navigators

These registered nurses can:

- › Give you information about your diagnosis, treatment and available supportive services.
- › Serve as educators, advocates and guides before, during and after treatment.

Northwestern Medicine Infusion and Radiation Services

Everything you need for cancer care is available in our convenient and comfortable outpatient locations.

Northwestern Medicine Cancer Center Warrenville

- › HDR brachytherapy

Northwestern Medicine Proton Center

4455 Weaver Parkway
Warrenville, Illinois 60555
877.887.5807

The Northwestern Medicine Proton Center is the first proton therapy center in Illinois to bring this precise radiation treatment to patients. The Center is equipped with state-of-the-art proton therapy technology, including:

- › Four treatment rooms: two inclined-beam rooms, a fixed beam room, and a 360° gantry room
- › Pencil beam scanning technology to treat more complex tumors close to critical structures
- › Real-time imaging technology in treatment rooms to optimize treatment precision, including cone beam computer technology in our 360° gantry room
- › A robotic patient-positioning system that adjusts automatically for position and immobilization
- › Computed tomography (CT) imaging technology, for use in treatment planning including a dual energy CT
- › A vertical CT scanner and custom designed treatment chair, minimizing patient movement and allowing proton beams to be delivered more effectively

Northwestern Medicine specialized services

At Northwestern Medicine, we offer specialized services that support your cancer treatment and well-being. Talk with your physician about referrals for specialized services.

Northwestern Medicine Marianjoy Rehabilitation Hospital

Our rehabilitation team can help you on your road to recovery. Our experts include physical therapists, occupational therapists and speech-language pathologists.

They can work with you on:

- › Strength and conditioning
- › Self-care
- › Swallowing
- › Communication
- › Manual lymph drainage and compression
- › Exercises to help you manage the symptoms of lymphedema and avoid inflammation and infections

The Northwestern Medicine Wheelchair and Positioning Program can help you understand and make decisions about wheelchair and assistive devices.

Northwestern Medicine Health & Fitness Centers

These centers use a medically integrated approach to fitness. Your customized exercise plan is designed with recommendations from your referring clinician. The Cancer Fitness Program guides movement to help you feel less tired while improving your muscle function and range of motion.

All eight-week programs include:

- › Assessments at the start and end of your pathway
- › A customized exercise plan

- › Two 60-minute supervised exercise sessions per week
- › A summary report for you that's also available to your clinician
- › Full membership access to your enrolling center
- › Waived enrollment fee after you complete the full program

Physical therapy and lymphedema care

Physical and occupational therapy is a key part of our multidisciplinary approach to cancer treatment. Our therapists have special training in post-surgical and post-treatment techniques to improve function, motion, scar tissue tightness, lymphedema and balance.

With highly personalized treatment sessions, our therapists can help you:

- › Prevent and/or reduce cancer-related fatigue and pain
- › Increase muscle mass, strength and endurance
- › Restore balance
- › Perform everyday activities more easily
- › Manage some common side effects of chemotherapy and radiation
- › Manage weight and volume increase due to lymphedema
- › Regain shoulder range of motion after breast cancer surgery
- › Improve your quality of life and physical fitness

Our cancer therapists are certified lymphedema therapists. They offer complete decongestive therapy, a noninvasive and painless therapy that includes:

- › Applying compression bandages, or other forms of compression, to keep the fluid from re-accumulating between treatment sessions
- › Exercise with bandaging to increase tissue pressure and lymph fluid movement
- › Manual lymph drainage to reroute lymph fluid around blocked areas
- › Skin care to lower risk of infections and improve skin health
- › Help with products, such as compression garments and/or a compression pump, that you may need after therapy

You must have a prescription for therapy. To schedule an appointment, please call 630.933.1500.

Fertility preservation

Cancer treatment can affect your ability to have children. We can move quickly with fertility preservation options to avoid delaying your treatment.

A patient navigator can discuss your options with you, your family and your cancer care team. They can also help you schedule visits more quickly, and they will serve as a resource throughout your fertility and treatment journey.

You can learn more at fertility.nm.org/fertility-preservation. To reach our patient navigator for fertility preservation, please call 312.503.3378.

Palliative care

Palliative care, also known as palliative medicine, focuses on improving quality of life, providing an extra layer of support and having a team focus on patient care when facing a serious illness.

Palliative care aims to improve your quality of life by relieving the symptoms associated with serious illness. You can get this type of care at any stage of a life-altering illness to help you:

- › Live with illness
- › Manage the effects of aggressive treatment
- › Find ways to handle day-to-day challenges

Palliative care can help shift the medical approach from crisis intervention to crisis prevention. For example, good symptom management may help you avoid an unwanted hospitalization.

Palliative care also aims to support you and your loved ones as you face the uncertainty that comes with serious illnesses. We work with you and your family to navigate your care.

If you have cancer, or any other serious illness, unmanaged symptoms can make it harder for your body to heal. The board-certified Northwestern Medicine Palliative Care specialists:

- › Work with your treatment team and caregivers to provide an extra layer of support to help you find relief from symptoms, pain and stress.
- › Provide care and help for a broad range of physical, emotional, spiritual and social concerns that you and your loved ones may face.

Northwestern Medicine Osher Center for Integrative Medicine

Integrative medicine focuses on science-based practices while acknowledging your body's natural healing abilities. It can expand our care options for a variety of conditions and diseases.

Services include:

- › Holistic primary care
- › Psychology services
- › Acupuncture services
- › Chiropractic services
- › Massage therapy services (you must pay out of pocket; we do not bill your insurance)
- › Integrative medicine consultations
- › Dietitian and nutrition services

To make an appointment call 312.926.DOCS (3627)

Northwestern Medicine Osher Center for Integrative Medicine

150 East Huron Street, Suite 1100, Chicago

Genetic counseling

We have board-certified and licensed genetic counselors who can help you understand your risk for developing cancer and other conditions based on your personal and family history. They can also answer your questions related to genetics and your health, and help you decide if genetic testing is right for you.

Genetic test results may affect treatment decisions for newly diagnosed cancer. Genetic counselors can offer guidance on strategies to detect cancer early, when it is most treatable, and can discuss possible options to reduce your risks.

Genetic counseling services include:

- › Genetic counseling and education
- › Risk assessment
- › Interpretation and explanation of genetic test results
- › Guidance on early detection, risk reduction, resources and genetic testing for your family

To schedule an appointment with a genetic counselor, call 630.933.6249.

Adolescent and Young Adult cancer program

Young adults living with cancer confront unique challenges related to work, school, health insurance, relationships, sexuality and fertility, as well as emotional distress and depression. Our Adolescent and Young Adult (AYA) Cancer Program provides programs and services to address these concerns and support the needs of young adults with cancer. The resources and services we offer are aligned with nationally established guidelines, to meet the complex needs of our patients.

The AYA Cancer Program offers access to resources at Robert H. Lurie Comprehensive Cancer Center of Northwestern University, including supportive care, clinical services and clinical trials. To join the program, email nayac@northwestern.edu.

Mentorship programs

These programs match patients and their loved ones with someone who has been in similar treatment for support and mentorship.

Matches are made based on diagnosis, treatment and other factors.

Woman to Woman at Northwestern Medicine

This mentor support program pairs Northwestern Medicine patients with gynecologic cancer with trained survivor mentors who provide one-on-one emotional support and mentoring.

The Ovarian Cancer Research Alliance started and funded the Woman to Woman program and has provided support to hundreds coping with gynecologic cancer.

Mentors meet one-on-one with recently diagnosed patients to listen, discuss concerns, provide support, and sometimes, just hold a hand. Mentors are carefully matched to patients based on cancer type, age, language and culture, patient preferences, as well as other relevant factors.

To learn more about the program, please call 312.472.3180.

Wig resources

Living Well Wig Boutique and Beautiful You Workshops

For patients experiencing hair loss because of cancer treatments, Living Well offers both virtual and in-person wig consultations. Our wig specialists will help you choose a wig for no charge that fits your needs and lifestyle.

They also offer Beautiful You Workshops, which are designed to help you feel beautiful inside and out as you learn how to care for your scalp and hair regrowth. You also will learn how to accessorize with scarves and hats, and how to recreate natural-looking eyebrows with an eye pencil.

Call to schedule an appointment:

- › Living Well Geneva: 630.933.7860
- › Living Well Warrenville: 331.732.4900

These wig providers can help you find a wig that fits your needs. Make an appointment, and ask your physician for an order for “cranial prosthesis.” When you get your wig, you must pay the wig provider for the wig. They will give you a receipt for you to submit to your insurance plan. If your insurance plan covers cranial prosthesis, they may reimburse you.

Financial resources

If you or family member has been diagnosed with cancer, the cost of care may be a concern. Because medical bills can add up quickly, get financial help soon after you or a loved one is diagnosed with cancer.

Social workers, case managers and clinicians can help or refer you to support services and financial resources. Although coping with financial responsibilities may sometimes seem overwhelming, do not let bills go unpaid.

Talk with your care team to see if there are diagnosis-specific resources available to you.

- › Northwestern Medicine Financial Assistance is for people who have trouble paying their Northwestern Medicine bills and who meet other criteria. Apply online at nm.org or call 800.423.0523 or 312.926.9427 and ask for an application.

Transportation services

American Cancer Society Road to Recovery

This program provides transportation to and from treatment for people with cancer who do not have a ride or who cannot drive themselves.

Depending on your needs and what is available in your area, we may be able to coordinate a ride with an American Cancer Society volunteer driver.

You must be traveling to a cancer-related medical appointment. You may also have to meet other eligibility requirements. For example, a caregiver may need to accompany a patient who cannot walk without help or is under age 18. Call us to find out what is available in your area and what the specific requirements are.

It can take several days to coordinate your ride, so please call 800.227.2345 well before the day of your visit.

Dial a Ride

This is a shared public paratransit service for people 65 and older, people with disabilities and those with low income who qualify for the service. You must live in DuPage County to be eligible.

A rider may be riding with other people at any given time. Other stops may be scheduled during transit to a rider's destination. The trip length and time may be longer than direct travel.

› Please call 630.407.6500 to set up this service.

› ridedupage.org
