NOVEMBER 14 2021

Dr. Aaron Cohn was kind and patient, he asked comprehensive questions and explained the procedure in a clear and structured way

NOVEMBER 9 2021

What a terrible experience. I've had GI symptoms for 20 years and wanted to consult on a plan for testing, etc. to find out what the underlying problem is. My primary care doctor, Dr. Zallik, referred me to Dr. Cohn. I am scheduled for surgery on December 22nd and am unsure about proceeding with the surgery, so Dr. Zallik helped me get in to see Dr. Cohn ASAP to consult with him about my GI symptoms. Dr. Cohn was double booked for my appointment today, which he mentioned a few times during my time with him. He said phrases including "this is someone else's time slot right now" and "I don't have time to talk to you about this today, let's set a future appointment." He added that the future appointment would need to be during his lunch hour since he is fully booked until next year. After he told me I should tell the receptionist to book over his lunch hour, I asked Dr. Cohn if there are other doctors in this practice who could see me instead if he is fully booked and can't accept a new patient. I felt he was defensive again and said something like "if you want to see another doctor, that's fine, that's your choice. I'm just telling you I'm booked until next year. Up to you." And walked away. I didn't know I was double booking Dr. Cohn or "taking up time during someone else's slot" as Dr. Cohn pointed out. Nor is that my problem. I felt he took his frustration about being double booked out on me, a sick patient who was there to seek his guidance and care. There were multiple instances during our short session that I felt he was defensive, such as when I asked if he'd like to see pictures of my distended belly after explaining that I looked 6 months pregnant. He said "no that's fine, I know what 6 months pregnant looks like." He didn't look at my pictures. And I said I had notes from my doctors appointment from yesterday to share with him. This is my doctor who is at Mayo so wouldn't be in the Northwestern system yet. He said he can read them off my phone, but then was rushing through our appointment and didn't ever read them or give me suggestions on how to share the doctor's notes so he could read later. I asked if he was going to do an exam, and perhaps he then did it just because I suggested it. He pulled up my shirt, prodded my belly a few times and didn't comment or say anything, just 15 seconds of awkwardness. No After Visit notes either. He printed out a study for me to read and said we could go through it next time and "have a book club together". At this point I felt very uncomfortable and fighting away tears. I said I was hoping we could work together on a plan to test for causes of bloating, since my doctor at Mayo believes it isn't gynecological but probably gastrointestinal. My Mayo gynecologist urged me to be very thorough and consult with a GI about next steps. Within 5 mins with Dr. Cohn he was writing a prescription for me to try two new drugs, and I explained I wanted to work together to discover why I'm sick. To work on a diagnosis first and then let's talk about treatment. I'm open to trying a new medication but need to understand what's going on, why I'm sick. He was defensive and said fine, "I deleted the prescriptions." The next step was for me to read this lengthy medical article and we would talk about it in two weeks. He ended the appointment by saying "get your stuff and I'll walk you out. " I mumbled that I know he's busy, I can see myself out. He said no it's fine and took me to check out. I talked with Phyllis at reception and started crying because I was so disappointed by this appointment and uncomfortable about my interaction with Dr. Cohn. I was hoping to have some kind of plan, and/or some info that would help me decide on surgery next month. This is the worst experience I have ever had with a doctor.

AUGUST 20 2021

He appears to know his profession very well

AUGUST 19 2021

He was thoughtful and seemed thorough. Was rushed at the end but I think Northwestern has unrealistic expectations of how fast Drs should work.

AUGUST 7 2021

The receptionist (who should learn how to smile and welcome patients instead of sporting an unfriendly look) and the nurse spoke to more than the doctor himself. He didnt seem very interested after he learned that I was already seeing another gastroenterologist in another group and was seeing him for a second opinion. He didnt care to find out any details about my health issues and simply rushed me out after I showed him a report from a year ago that showed thyroid nodules. My throat issues could have been GERD related. He did no physical exam. Told me to see an endocrinologist and walked me out of his office in less than 10 mins. So all I got from the visit was an unsatisfactory experience and a face mask for $40 (my copay). Doctors should come across as caring and curious when they see a patient who comes to see them with hope and optimism. I felt like a fool for seeing this particular doctor. He did tell me to see him in a couple of years if I wanted an endoscopy.

AUGUST 3 2021

He was the only doctor who read the piece of paper that I gave him containing my meds and ailments. And questioned me about my anxiety and how it effects me.

AUGUST 2 2021

Not with him long enough to have an opinion

AUGUST 2 2021

Doctor Cohn's advice is always sound and validated by complete explanations.
