MARCH 23 2019

I have had skin cancer issues for 15 years, and have seen 4 primary providers during that time. Dr. Choi is by far the best of those four. What sets Dr. Choi apart in my mind is that she has such an acute eye is by far the best of those four. What sets Dr. Choi apart in my mind, is that she has such an acute eye she can catch problems during exams that are barely developed. Of the 15+ removals I have had, most originated by me pointing out questionable spots to providers. Dr. Choi seems to have an eagle eye with regards to recognizing errant cells. After spending countless hours in dermatology offices and multiple biopsies, I think Dr. Choi has a real diagnostic specialty.

DECEMBER 7 2018

Dr. Choi is one in a million doctors. Dr. Choi cares about all of her patients and explains in detail what the next steps are. She has the amazing ability to remember details about her patients that few doctors have. She doesn't rush through check-ups and genuinely cares when having to explain why she is taking a biopsy and next steps. Northwestern should really use her as an example of what a doctor should be like. I have referred several friends to her and they love her.
