Dr. Gimre always takes time to listen and from his responses I know that he truly pays attention to what I say. He always tries to offer an explanation as to why something may be happening the way it is.

Because he takes the time to thoroughly investigate and understand the problem (rather than just jumping to conclusions), I feel like so much time is saved over the long run and the recovery process can start sooner as we are on the right track from the get-go.

He spent more time than I expected explaining the issue to me. He also discussed care options and what I would like to do; not forcing PT on me.
