APRIL 6 2021

Professional, but seemed a bit rushed. I was a bit concerned about the C/T Scan results due to changes noted in my chest lymph nodes. He gave a very cryptic explanation. I asked about the possible reasons for changes. Ultimately, Dr. Bumber deduced that the enlarged bilateral subpectoral lymph nodes were due the covid-19 vaccine shots injected in my left and right arms over the last month. Also, he didn't mention this but, I asked several follow-up questions about my thyroid, white blood cell count. Then, he ordered additional tests. I'm just not certain that he would have done this if I hadn't assertively asked related questions. However, I do appreciate his suggestions for the cartid scan next year and follow-up with a Colonoscopy. I felt better about that. Also, more eye contact doctor. slow down. See me. Thank you.

NOVEMBER 28 2020

First time meeting Dr.Boumber and he seamed concerned.

NOVEMBER 21 2020

I was quite satisfied. His manner did strike me as leaning towards that of a researcher, but was easy to adjust to. (The only reason for not rating a 9 or 10.) He explained the reasons for all treatments,

OCTOBER 9 2020

It was my first visit to Dr. Boumber as my past oncologist left for another state. He seems very nice and with an impressive MD and PhD titles. However, I had the impression that he didn't review my history. My visit left me confused because of the many statements he made regarding my lung cancer stage, etc., what threw me off was when he said that I may have a "little cancer". This left me very confused considering I have been on active treatment since 2017 at NM, gone through surgery when first diagnosed, chemo, radiation, immunotherapy for one year, then video assisted thoracic surgery, presently on targeted therapy and a month before my appointment had radiation for a week. I don't think it is a good fit for me.

They seem to know what they are doing. I'm counting on their expertise.

SEPTEMBER 12 2020

The doctor was unprepared for the teleconference. We requested if all the test results were not in before the teleconference that it be rescheduled, but that was not done. We wanted this as a second opinion but it was really a waste of time and money.

AUGUST 11 2020

I would like the doctor to make recommendations as I look to him for advice. Sometimes he asks me what I'd like to do. For example: You will be on maintenance therapy for two years...unless you want to have it longer. I want to know what he thinks I should do. I'm not qualified to make a decision like that.

AUGUST 8 2020

He is very nice and very professional
